Introductions Removing Barriers to Successful Reentry Criminal records contain error(s). Fixing these errors can help open doors to employment, housing, and stability that had previously been closed. CARE helps people with conviction histories request, read, and repair their NYS Division of Criminal Justice Services rap sheets and criminal records maintained by consumer credit reporting agencies. CARE volunteers also help individuals apply for Certificates of Good Conduct or Certificates of Relief from Disabilities, which provide presumptive evidence of rehabilitation and overcome numerous statutory barriers to employment and licensure. * Overview of program: Restoration of Rights: Certificate of Relief from Civil Disabilities and a Certificate of Good Conduct * A review of how official criminal records are made and potential mistakes, and information about laws that protect individuals with criminal conviction histories from discrimination. * The Intake Process: The Intake Form * Securing Your Criminal Records.
